

LEWINE BROTHERS.

THE VETERANS ARE GONE.

The sounds of martial music and warlike speech are hushed. Everything has subsided, but the stern tread of commerce is still heard in our streets, and faint rumblings of coming thunder are heard from afar as the mighty hosts are marshaling for the fall campaign that is soon to be waged.

WE MUST CLEAR OUR DECKS

And every impediment to success must be removed. We have many Summer Goods to MOVE to give us room for our immense FALL STOCK, which is now en route, and anyone who still wishes to buy light weight fabrics can buy them.

Resolved, That we are not for envoys of war. The Red Devils may now encroach. Men as and Yankees may fight and cut each other's throats. The dogs in war may tear human flesh, cannon balls may plow through fortifications, but even living infants are mocked by our might to our power, never march, never retreat, and shall stand in more grace than any other nation on earth.

RESEARCHING THOMPSON.

The Discreet Recitations in the New York Express.

New York, Aug. 10.—The hearing before the majority of the congressional Committee on Un-American Subjects was continued to day.

The major's office was crowded with various speakers. There was present George Washington, a former member of Congress, and a number of public speakers. Senator George H. Thompson, of Penn., himself, introduced witnesses with the purpose the final examination was made without the usual formality of a committee. The hearing was adjourned.

Mr. Thompson, who had been a member of Congress for 20 years, said he had been called to the bar to defend Mr. Walker, and that he had been asked to do so because of his knowledge of the law.

Mr. Thompson said: "There were two reasons that caused me to accept the appointment. I wanted to help Mr. Walker, and I wanted to help the South."

He said: "I am a Southerner, and I have studied the Southern cause, and I have decided to get behind Mr. Walker and his administration, supporting him at the same time that I stated he would support him in his efforts to expose the South's conduct."

Mr. Thompson said: "I have been told that Mr. Walker is a Southerner, and that he has been asked to defend Mr. Walker, and I have agreed to do so because of my knowledge of the law."

Mr. Thompson said: "I have been asked to defend Mr. Walker, and I have agreed to do so because of my knowledge of the law."
